TWO LAKE VILLA YOUTHS ARE HURT IN AUTO WRECK

H. Schneider and M. O'Sadnick Injured When Car Overtakes

Two Lake Villa boys, Howard Schneider and Maurice O'Sadnick, were seriously injured early Sunday morning as they were returning home from a Saturday night party. The accident occurred west of Lake Villa on Grand Avenue when O'Sadnick, who was driving a Chevrolet roadster, lost control of the car coming down Hawkins hill.

The car turned turtle, badly injuring the boys and causing them to lose consciousness. They were found a short time afterwards by Frank Valenta, who was returning to his home at Fox Lake after closing his refreshment stand at Lake Villa. The boys were given first aid by Dr. Gladiach and taken to the St. Therese's hospital, Waukegan.

Schneider, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schneider, suffered a skull fracture, a lacerated ear, and serious cuts and wounds. He remained unconscious until Monday evening. O'Sadnick, an employee at the Hucker garage, Lake Villa, received a badly crushed hand, but it was not found necessary to amputate the hand, as feared at first. His parents at La Salle, Ill., were notified of the accident, and arrived Sunday. The roadster was badly damaged.

Arthur Verrier Weds Chicago Girl

An impressive double-ring ceremony was performed Saturday, June 30, when Miss Martha Mieschke of Chicago, and Arthur Verrier, formerly of Antioch, exchanged marriage vows at St. Joseph's Church, Chicago.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mieschke, was attired in a white satin gown with a veil, and carried a bouquet of white roses. Maid-of-honor was Miss Elizabeth Mieschke, sister of the bride; she was gown-d in pink satin and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Best man was Victor Bown of Antioch.

Following the ceremony, a dinner was served at the bride's home, after which the young couple left on their wedding trip.

The bride was graduated from the Sean High School, while the groom, a son of Mrs. Ada Verrier, was graduated from the Antioch Township High School in 1931, and attended the University of Illinois. Mr. Verrier formerly was employed at King's Drug Store, and now owns a drug store in Chicago.

The couple will make their home at 6101 Addison street, Chicago.

Girls' Summer Camp Opens at Cedar Lake

The Mac-Do Lodge, a private summer camp for young girls between the ages of seven and twelve, opened July 1, at Cedar Lake for a nine weeks' term. The camp boasts an exclusive membership of twenty girls, daughters of prominent North and South Shore families. The girls will receive the best of athletic instruction from their eight counselors. Director of the camp are M. A. Cohen and Miss Dorothy Plunkett, Chicago.

Among the members of the teaching staff is Billy Gray of Antioch, who is employed as riding instructor. Horses used are secured from Kaye's Saddle Horse Stables, Antioch.

MANGLE EXPLOSION THREATENS LAUNDRY

The laundry on the Otis Hotel property, Fox Lake, was threatened by fire about two o'clock Friday afternoon when the gasoline mangle, which was being operated by Mrs. Edward Starbaro, exploded. Fearing a dangerous conflagration, the fire department was called immediately, but the fire was extinguished before the arrival of the firemen.

The laundry equipment was said by Fire Chief Stearns to be insured.

Dairymen Are Granted Boost In Milk Price

Secretary Wallace Sets New Price at $2.25 per Hundredweight

The need of farmers in the Chicago Pure Milk area for a higher price for their milk to offset the high price of feed was partially met last Thursday evening, when announcement was made by Secretary Wallace that the price would be increased from $2.00 to $2.25 per 100 pounds of base milk.

Farmers estimate that they will actually receive about $2.00 per hundred pounds, when the test differences and surpluses are figured. When the price was raised to $2.00 June 1, dairymen actually received about $1.80 as an average for all milk produced. The next price raise became effective Sunday.

While this announcement was being made, a county Pure Milk Meeting was being held at Grayslake Thursday evening. District 7, comprising Lake Zurich and surrounding areas, adopted a resolution urging the right to sell all milk at $2.58 per hundred. However, no definite action has been taken since that time, and it is believed that with the additional increase granted by the AAA, strike threats will subside.

Chicago Man Breaks Neck In Bang's Lake

Lake Forest Workers Die from Burns in Pump-House Explosion

Robert Bartneck, 40, of 1271 Clybourn Avenue, Chicago, died in St. Therese's hospital Monday afternoon as a result of a broken neck received Sunday when he dived into shallow water at Bangs Lake, near Wauconda.

According to witnesses, Bartneck dived into the water after his Sunday dinner, hitting the bottom of the lake, which was only about four feet deep in that vicinity. He was taken from the lake about fifteen minutes later by rescuers, and revived by artificial respiration under the direction of Dr. J. A. Ross, Wauconda.

Bartneck was taken to the St. Therese's hospital where an X-ray revealed that his neck was broken.

Dies after Explosion

Another victim of an accident, Frank Wawak, 45, who was fatally burned in a pump-house explosion at the Wawak place on the Townline road west of Lake Forest Thursday, died in the Alice Home hospital in Lake Forest Tuesday morning.

His brother, Charles Wawak, 40, another victim of the same explosion, passed away yesterday evening.

The accident occurred when the men had gone to the pump-house to make repairs on the water tank. Gas that is generated in the marshlands west of Lake Forest had plowed into the tank with the water, and they had let out some of this. The explosion occurred when a spark from the pump motor ignited the gas.

McMILLEN IS VICTOR OVER LOU PLUMMER IN ROUND LAKE ARENA

Jim Slams Opponent Thru Ropes Several Times in Main Bout

The second all-star professional wrestling card of the season will be held in Ronchan's open air arena at Round Lake, Friday, July 13, and will feature all the winners of the first show and several other top-notchers of the grunt and groan profession, according to announcement made today by Matchmaker Leslie White and Promoter "Peg" Behning.

Jim McMillen, the new Lake County champion, has been signed by White to wrestle again on the main event and White assures the fans that the champ will be up against another tough opponent.

Last Friday's show was voted a decided success, both in point of entertainment and box office receipts. About 2,000 cash customers paid to see a real show, packed with thrills enough to satisfy any crowd of rest breathers.

In the main bout for the county heavyweight championship, Jim McMillen of Antioch, and one of the leading contenders for the world's heavyweight crown, finished off Lou Plummer, Waukegan, in 34 minutes and 45 seconds after the start of their scheduled 90-minute match. The match seemed about even going for the first half hour, and then Jim really went to work on his Waukegan rival. A series of flying tackles administered during the last three minutes caused Plummer to go bouncing out of the ropes five times and softened him up so that he was easily pinned to the mat. Plummer was pretty badly used up at the finish. He is a glutton for punishment and he is said to be seeking another match with the champ.

A series of body slams enabled Hans Bauer, German strong man, to win over Rudy Hoffman, Northwestern University boy, in a little over 17 minutes. This was the cleanest match of the show.

Charlie Peterson, Pistakee Bay, flattened Jack Zaravick in 18 minutes in what was the noisiest bout of the evening. Slams, tackles, headlocks, kicks—everything went in this battle and even Referee Charlie Layvine got mixed up with the grapplers. For real showmanship this bout topped the card.

"Buckets" Goldenberg, ex-Wisconsin griddler, pinned George Mack, Boston, in 22 minutes, in a corking hero and villain act that had the fans on their feet several times. Mack in the role of villain, did everything in his repertoire apparently to chisel down the steady "Buckets," but a few body slams ended the match.

"He's hit!" "He's hit!" were heard to shout to the referee several times, but no marks appeared on "Buckets," where Mack's biceps were supposed to have sunk. The pair did put on a great show at that, and it went over well with the crowd.

Rep. Richard J. Lyons was announcer.

Pure Milk Association Lauded For Hay Purchase

Congratulatory messages are being received by Pure Milk Association Officials for securing hay requested for 1,500 of its members at a saving of $18,216.00. Foreseeing that a shortage of hay was soon to become apparent, the Association two months ago arranged for a Government loan of $200,000.00 to act as a revolving fund with which to buy hay. The initial shipment of 600 carloads (4564 tons) was purchased direct from Kansas and Nebraska farmers.

This prompt action not only saved the farmers considerable money, but also prevented the rapid price increase in hay which was sure to follow the shortage. While the Pure Milk Association was buying hay at $16.00 and $18.00 a ton, Chicago quotations for A-1 green alfalfa were $24.00 and $26.00 a ton.

Saves Members $4.00 a Ton

Association members were able to buy the hay at $19.00 per ton for cash and $19.50 per ton on time. These prices included interest on the money borrowed up to $100.00 and the pay for the extra help necessary to handle the increased work made necessary by the purchase. It is apparent that Association members were saved $3.00 to $4.00 per ton.

Association officials announced it is not their intention to enter into the hay business permanently, but an emergency has arisen which demanded prompt action.

"With the excellent rains which we have been having in many parts of the milk shed it is quite apparent that the emergency has been met," stated D. N. Goyer of the Pure Milk Association. "The Association is indebted for this splendid service to the cooperation of the local officers and fieldmen who have been testing the members' milk throughout the territory."

CLARK HOUSE ON SIMPSON ESTATE BURNS TO GROUND

$10,000 Fire at Wadsworth Farmhouse Caused by Oil Stove

Fire, originating from a defective oilstove, totally destroyed the farm house of Frank Clark, superintendent on the farm of Congressman James Simpson, Jr., west of Wadsworth shortly before noon Tuesday. Clark estimated the loss at $10,500, including $500 in cash.

Because of an insufficient supply of water, members of the Gurnee Fire Department under Fire Chief Joseph Dada, could do little more than prevent the blaze spreading to other buildings, and concentrate their efforts towards saving two large maple trees more than 40 years old, and the shrubbery about the house.

According to Clark's estimates, it will cost $7,000 to replace the house, an eight-room two story frame building, and $3,000 for the furniture, most of which was totally destroyed or damaged.

Loss $500 in Cash

The $500 in cash lost in the fire was a payment received Saturday from Mrs. Ben Parmalee, wife of the Waukegan attorney. Clark had had no opportunity to bank it. Valuable efforts were made to save it, Frank Gleason, a neighbor, receiving burns in the attempt.

The fire started shortly before 11 o'clock Tuesday after Leona Slaton, housekeeper who was preparing the noon meal, had ignited the oil stove and left the room. Returning, she found the kitchen in flames. She went for aid to the racing stables half a mile south of the house where the men were working.

Congressman Simpson had left the farm, which is located a mile and a half west of Wadsworth, half an hour before the fire was discovered, for Chicago. Clark could not say definitely whether the house was insured, although he believed that all of the buildings on the estate were covered by insurance.

Couple Are Indicted In Crystal Lake Jewel Theft Case

Indictments against Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor, charged with a $10,000 jewel robbery in Crystal Lake were returned by the McHenry County grand jury Tuesday on two larceny counts, the bond being $20,000 for each count. The arrest was made in connection with the jewel robbery at the home of J. A. Barrett in Crystal Lake some time ago. The suspects were brought by Sheriff Lester Edinger, from Oregon City, Oregon, where they had been arrested several weeks ago on information forwarded by McHenry county law enforcement agencies.

Taylor maintains his innocence, although he has sandpapered his finger tips to increase the difficulty of tracing him through finger print bureaus. An arraignment is to be made today in the McHenry County circuit court at Woodstock, according to State's Attorney V. S. Lumley.

Charles Rice was also indicted on a forgery charge by the grand jury, the complainant being A. F. Wright of McHenry county.

Black Bass? Right This Way, Gentlemen

Big black bass bite on Bob's bait. How's that for alliteration? Anyway, who cares about that, just so the fish aren't bashful? Bob Mann and his brother-in-law, Leonard Volpe, report having made a catch of eight good sized fellows during one of their week-end fishing vigils.

M. M. Burke weighed in two black bass, caught Saturday in Lake Catherine which tipped the scales at nearly three pounds. Creek chub plunkers were used to hook the fish.

Well, It's a Way to Spend Money, Isn't It?

We haven't been able to reason out the government's plan of erecting great dams to make fruitful barren regions and also employing man groups of workers to restore eroded areas to a productive state when on the other hand it is that great areas of fertile land are banned from production, yet the tax collector to harvest the fruit crop from the idle land to the owner has been denied profit access.—The Greenfield Argus.

REBUILDING THE MONEY STRUCTURE

In a recent article in the New York Herald Tribune, Walter Lippmann, one of the best known of American economists, says that the most effective instrument of recovery has been the monetary policy, rather than efforts designed to stimulate purchasing power through industrial regulation.

Mr. Lippmann thus adds his voice to those of other economists, both here and abroad, who believe that well-considered changes in the money systems of the great powers are necessary both in conquering depression, and in achieving stability afterwards. Before long a number of international conferences will probably be held on the general subject of "What Shall We Do About Money?"—and the results achieved will have a great bearing on the future prosperity of all the peoples of the world.

WHEN "FARM RELIEF" SUCCEEDS

There is a growing feeling on the part of those in a position to know the facts that government farm relief measures have made their most conspicuous successes when they have sought to help the farmer help himself—and have come nearest to failure when they have simply tried to change a condition through legislation, judicial or executive fiat.

It's an old axiom that doing a thing for a person isn't nearly so worthwhile as showing him how to do it on his own hook, and that is true of agriculture as anything else. When official agencies have worked to build and strengthen the farmer-owned co-operatives, which represent concentrated individual effort, they have produced excellent results.

The co-operatives have the great virtue of permanence. They are not subject to change as in an administration or a political party. They are immune to political considerations—they don't depend on votes for their existence. They can determine upon a policy and pursue it one year, five years, or twenty years if it is advisable.

The soundly managed co-operatives, consequently are getting somewhere. They are winning out along a dozen fronts—winning in their fight for stabler markets, better prices, and a fairer break for the farm producer. They eminently deserve the great measure of agricultural, public and official support they have been given by those who understand their motives and their methods.

OUR NATION'S BIRTHDAY, JULY 4, 1776

Our second president, John Adams, poured out his very soul in support of the Declaration of Independence before the document was signed. We quote herewith: "But whatever may be our fate, be assured that this Declaration will stand. It may cost treasure, and it may cost blood, but it will stand, and it will richly compensate for both. Through the thick gloom of the present, I see the brightness of the future, as the sun in heaven. We shall make this a glorious, an immortal day. When we are in our graves, our children will honor it. They will celebrate it with thanksgiving, with festivity, with bonfires and illuminations. On its annual return, they will shed tears, copious, gushing tears, not of subjection and slavery, not of agony and distress, but of exultation, of gratitude and joy. Sir, before God, I believe the hour is come. My judgment approves this measure, and my whole heart is in it. All that I have, and all that I am, and all that I hope, in this life, I am now ready to stake upon it. And I leave off as I began, that, live or die, survive or perish, I am for the Declaration. It is my living sentiment, and by the blessing of God it shall be my dying sentiment.

"Independence now, and Independence forever!" There is not a real American who does not thrill at the story of how colonial leaders affixed their signatures to the Declaration of Independence—the document which gave birth to our mighty nation. Let us stimulate a greater spirit of patriotism, and thereby deal telling blows to those in America who seek to undermine our constitution.

SMALL GRAIN THIS YEAR IS SUITED TO GOOD COMBINING

Urbana, Ill., June 27.—(Whilo) 1934 brought drought, chinch bugs and unusually short wheat and oats. It also supplies optimum conditions to combine-harvest Illinois small grain crops, says A. L. Young, agricultural engineer at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

In most parts of the state this season, it is possible to let standing grain ripen thoroughly. There is little danger of lodging, and there are few weeks to increase in size as the grain dries. The fact that the grain is short will prove more of an advantage than a handicap to Illinois combine operators.

As a result of these favorable conditions, however, there will be a tendency on the part of operators to thresh unusually fast, throwing a heavy load of grain and chaff on the cleaning sieves and screens. This should be avoided, explains Young, for it is likely to cause difficulty in separating even the dry foreign material from the grain. If the sieve openings are kept small enough to separate heavy foreign matter, rapid threshing will cause heavy tailing, resulting in a fairly large loss of grain in chaff and straw. Furthermore, this may cause cracked kernels when excessive amounts of threshed grain are returned to the cylinder.

Short and very brittle straw to be found in most Illinois grain fields this year will tend to increase the amount of chaff that must be handled by the cleaning sieves. On some combines the size of the openings in the rack or conveyor can be made smaller to care for this condition.

To reduce the amount of chaff, it is generally best to use fewer concave teeth and keep them up well. Lowering the concaves may let an excessive number of heads pass through unthreshed, particularly when the straw is short.

Windrow combining this year is likely to prove somewhat risky. In fields where there are both short grain and weeds, operators should bear in mind that windrows not sup-

New Anaesthetic Gas Reduces Risk

A newly developed anesthetic gas cyclopropane, was described before the Congress of Anesthetists meeting in Chicago which promises to be better than those now in use. It has been used successfully in some two or three hundred cases and so far has been found to have no harmful effects either to the organs or bodily functions. Risk of accident is reduced because it is a low pressure gas which gives great muscular relaxation enabling surgeons to operate more rapidly. Its greatest drawback at present is its high cost. This may be lowered as indications are that it may be used with large amounts of oxygen. Either as an anesthetic for surgical purposes Oct. 16, 1916, 87 years ago. Previous to this date gas had been used only in the extracting of teeth.

A large shipment of white rats has been sent to the Philippines to aid the study of leprosy. Such rodents for use in the laboratories there are not available in that region.

Early Sunday morning as Maurice O'Sadnick, helper at the Hucker garage, and Harold Schneider, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schneider, were coming home from a Saturday night party, Maurice, who was driving, lost control of the car when coming down Hawkins' hill west of town and it overturned, injuring both boys so that they were unconscious when found by Frank Valenta who was returning to his home at Fox Lake after closing his refreshment stand here, and summoned help. They were given first aid by Dr. Gindich and taken to the St. Theresa hospital, where it was feared that the O'Sadnick boy would lose one hand. It was so badly crushed, but it was found later that it would not be necessary to amputate the hand. The Schneider boy was badly cut by glass and required several stitches to close the wounds, but both are recovering. Mr. and Mrs. O'Sadnick came from their home in La Salle to see their son and make arrangements for his care.

The local fire department was called out Monday afternoon to fight a grass fire which had caught near the railroad in a small grove of the E. J. Lehmann estate, and as everything was so dry, even the trees caught fire.

Williamson Case Collapses

A Sangamon County Circuit Court jury recently rendered a verdict of not guilty in the case against William L. Williamson, former state superintendent of printing, and Miss Nellie A. Machin, his secretary. The verdict was not unexpected. From its inception, the case had been looked upon as a political prosecution, undertaken in consequence of Williamson's activity in opposition to the Democratic state administration.

The State's case was discredited from the beginning by the singling out of Williamson and his secretary as conspirators, when the evidence showed that the payroll manipulation was for the benefit of Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom, who had employed this method of paying under-employees. Naturally enough, selection of Williamson and his secretary for indictment, prejudiced the whole proceeding in the minds of practically everyone.

About the only thing proved against Williamson is that he is a Republican and that he retired from office under a Democratic administration.

Hitting the Bullseye

"Is Mose Podmore a good shot?"
"Yes, we were out practicing with our rifles the other day and he hit the bullseye the first time."
"That sure was fine shooting."
"Yes, but he had to pay a farmer $10 for killing the bull."

No Need to Go Dry
(from Telegraph-Courier, Kenosha, Wis. 1894)

Well, thirty-five out of our thirty-six saloons are still doing business on Sunday and selling to minors every day in the week. A case is now pending against one of the saloon keepers and will be called next Monday but this is only a starter. The people are awakening to this matter and they are anxious to determine whether the liquor interests or the law-abiding people run this town. (Ed. Note. We've gone a long way since then—and back again. Let's hope the vicious circle isn't entirely completed.)

Public Opinion

Strange are the ways of Public Opinion. In her varying moods she becomes a savior of mankind or a destroyer of that which by her own demands she has saved. Today a vampire, tomorrow a saint; a Trojan in her demands for what today is heralded as right, as noble as Cleopatra when tomorrow's multitudes declare that right was not right. Brave as a roaring lion and yet as cowardly as a skulking wolf which has been separated from the pack. Virtue-laden when Puritanic idealism possesses the land, she turns chameleon when that idealism inks wings and vanishes away. Infallible and yet a persecutor of the infallible. Such is Public Opinion.

She wears a halo to light her path and then destroys the very path on which she found her way to the light. She is no respecter of person, or of truth, or of fact, or of historical revelation, or of prophetic vision; lover of truth and hater of the application of truth. She struggles through the years for the accomplishment of a great ideal, then in a day deserts the ideal, and sees her own followers suffer the agonies which are certain to result from her popularly-endorsed folly. Such is Public Opinion.

Today she leads an army in a righteous cause; tomorrow she has turned traitor to the cause and enrolls in the battle lines of her erstwhile foe. Today she is mobilized to construct, tomorrow to destroy. She murders a Caesar on the idea of March, and on the morrow follows a Mark Antony from the funeral to destroy those who obeyed her demands for Caesar's blood. She burns Joan of Arc as a witch, and then sanctifies herself in the incense of the smoking ashes. She talks "peace on earth," and at the sound of rolling drums plunges into a World war with peace-preaching Christian murdering peace-preaching Christian. Such is Public Opinion.

In a year of popular demands she capitalizes on the teachings of a century and passes laws for the preservation of those teachings; in another day of popular demand, with a flash she destroys the very laws which were formed for her own protection. She knows no constitution if that constitution blocks the way to her desire. She is a builder of governments and a destroyer of civilization, a defender of constitutional rights and a defamer of the very constitutions which protect those rights; a hero and a deserter; a thinker today, a careless follower of uncertain doctrines tomorrow.

Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde: Thy name is Public Opinion.—L. W. Robinson, Mitchell (S. D.) Gazette. Robinson received a gold make-up rule for this prize winning editorial.

The federal government owns a tract of 1,700 acres near Des Moines, Iowa, part of the war-time military camp. It leased this ground to a tenant who planted all but 30 per cent of it in corn this spring. The tenant is now claiming a federal cash allotment for not planting the 30 per cent and all indications are that he will get the money. It will take Roosevelt, himself, to smile that one off.

ICE LAYER IN AIR

French scientists who have been conducting experiments in East Greenland say there is a layer of ice in the air over the polar regions. This ice ceiling (congealed atmosphere) is a million times denser than water and is situated approximately 60 miles above the earth. The discovery was made when electrical impulses from an electric sounding machine were reflected back. Time of the impulses in transit was recorded and computations made which gave the height of the ice layer. This ice is believed to be the cause of the storms at sea.

Church Notes

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Christian Science" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 1.

The Golden Text was, "Laying aside all malice, and all guile, and all evil speakings, as newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby" (1 Peter 2:1, 2).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind. Hold fast the form of sound words, which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus" (1 Tim. 1:7, 13).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Scriptures are very sacred. Our aim must be to have them understood spiritually, for only by this understanding can truth be gained. It is this spiritual perception of Scripture, which lifts humanity out of disease and death and inspires faith" (p. 347).

Government

WITH drastic changes taking place in the governments of nations, much attention is turned in these days to forms of government and to discussions of various types of government. People somewhat bewildered by adversity and untoward conditions in their personal affairs, are prone to turn to their national government either with appeals for help or with condemnation.

Some are looking for safety and security in government, while others are fearing the encroachment of government control. Christian Science has much to say about government. Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, speaks often of God's government of man. She speaks of the endowment with life and intelligence of whatever is governed by God. "God has endowed man with inalienable rights, among which are self-government, reason, and conscience," she writes on page 106 of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," and adds, "Man is properly self-governed only when he is guided rightly and governed by his Maker, divine Truth and Love."

Through the ages mortals have sought freedom to think according to the dictates of their own conscience, freedom to act according to their own best judgment, and freedom to govern their affairs righteously without interference from others or from the state.

For a long time mortals have sought freedom from tyranny, freedom from slavery, freedom from oppression and depression, freedom from sin and from sickness. Christian Science strikes at the root of these evils, and helps weary people to find the realization of that state of being wherein man is governed by his creator—free from enslaving beliefs.

Sometimes a person is not aware of just what it is that is governing him. It may be fear of the future or grieving about the past that seems to cast a shadow over his mental outlook. It may be that some person with whom he is associated exercises much influence over him and presumes to govern his thinking and decisions. Or it may be that the responsibility for trouble and unhappiness is laid to business circumstances or family connections.

Whatever may be the seeming influence or unrighteous government, there is a way of escape and a means of correction. Christian Science gives the spiritual basis from which a person can learn how to have his thinking and his actions directed and governed by God. This alone leads him to safety and security. It demands that he look outside of human selfhood for guidance and control, as did Jesus, the master Christian.

Jesus sought beyond his human personality for direction and government. By his constant recognition of his true, spiritual selfhood, which was ever existing with God, and by his obedience to God's government, Jesus was able at all times to prove his freedom from wrong influences and unrighteous control, and therefore was able to demonstrate the true government of God. He always claimed close communion with his heavenly Father, and acknowledged the power of Mind, or God, and his unity with it. At one time, when speaking of his healings, he said, "My Father worketh hitherto, and I work."

To be "properly self-governed," then, and guided rightly, each one must be governed by his Maker, by Truth and Love. Each individual must seek the guidance of the Father, and be willing to let Truth control his thinking. Being governed rightly requires a surrender of self-righteousness, a giving up of the carnal power, a forsaking of the carnal power, a forsaking of jealousy, rivalry, hatred, and the like. This brings true freedom, which establishes both divine and human rights.

This working out of God's righteous government in his own experience helps an individual to support and encourage righteous government in his nation. Since a nation is made up of many people, this understanding of righteous government by more and more of these people will of necessity aid in bringing about improved national government.

Regardless of the vicissitudes through which the governments of nations may go, or through what changes their constitutions or laws may pass, the enlightened citizen will hold to the rights of the individual. He will maintain and cling to the God-given rights of freedom. He will recall often the prophetic account of the coming of the Messiah by Isaiah, where it is said: "For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulder; and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The Father of the Fatherless, The Prince of Peace. Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice from henceforth even for ever."—The Christian Science Monitor.

FARM AND GARDEN
TOPICSDrought Teaches Lesson
On Pasture Problem

(by C. L. Kuttly)

Any farmer who has a field of biennial sweet clover for pasture purposes, will tell you that at no time during the drought was he worried by a shortage of feed.

Sweet clover established with oats or barley as a nurse crop will produce wonderful pasturage the following year. It is deep rooted and can obtain moisture in time of drought.

Being a legume it makes excellent feed for dairy cattle. At the same time it greatly improves the soil for the following crops, as it has the characteristic of obtaining nitrogen from the air and fixing it into nitrates in the soil.

Hay from sweet clover is not so palatable but sweet clover pastures are excellent. Anyone who has tried them will say that larger quantities of milk can be produced than on grass pastures.

Turn cattle into sweet clover when it is about ten inches high and then it should not be allowed to get much higher as it gets woody. If pastured on sweet clover imparts odor to milk, cattle may be kept away from the pasture for a few hours previous to milking time. However, very little trouble has been experienced.

Fritz Oetting returned home from Kenosha Thursday after a trip with Ollie O'Mara, manager of the Kenosha base ball club Wednesday. Stengel put Oetting through a strenuous workout and was so well pleased with his showing that he ordered him to work out with his Dodgers when they returned to Chicago in August. Cool Water, Sunny Beaches Lure Urbanites to Resort

With 73,733 Lives Lost by Drowning in Decade, Swimmers Are Coached in Proper Practices of Sport by National Safety Council

The lure of cool water and sunny beaches and soft breezes is calling many from the city to resort places. Because of the number of drownings each year, the National Safety Council sees fit now to reissue its warning against drowning hazards and to give a few hints to swimmers.

While there probably were fewer drownings in 1933 than in 1932, because of the absence of serious floods, the national experience each year has not been encouraging. The 1932 total was 7,712. At present too little is known of the national experience for 1933 to permit a reliable estimate, but during the ten years from 1920 to 1929 a total of 73,733 persons lost their lives through accidental drowning.

Beginners, the National Safety Council message continues, should stay in shallow water and have the aid of an experienced swimmer. Even if one is a good swimmer, he should stay within easy range of a boat, raft, or near shallow water. Swimming when over-heated or tired is an exceedingly dangerous practice. Likewise it is not wise to swim until exhausted. Should one become exhausted when swimming, he should turn on his back and rest until he is able to return to shore.

Know Your Depth

A general rule for diving is to confine one's sport to water known to be five feet deep at least. A swimmer caught in a swift current or undertow should not struggle. The current will force him to the surface, when he will be able gradually to work his way toward the shore.

There are a few hints given also to persons who wade. They are advised not to wade into water with the hands above their head for one is then unprepared for the swimming stroke should he step into a hole. Neither should he lean back when entering the water, for should he fall he would then fall backwards, instead of forwards and ready to swim. Swimmers should remember the story of the boy who called "Wolf" too many times. If one cries for help in fun, his companions are likely to believe that he is joking when he really needs assistance.

Swimmers should learn life saving and resuscitation. This knowledge may sometime be the means of saving a life, either of a stranger, friend or someone whom the rescuer loves.

Show-off is Dangerous

Cramps are one of the greater fears of persons who swim. A muscle cramp is not dangerous if one will keep his head. The real danger is fear. Shmooch cramps, on the other hand may easily be avoided. Simply do not swim until two hours after eating, the Safety Council advises.

For a cramp in the calf of the leg, submerge, seize the cramped muscle with thumbs and fingers of both hands and squeeze. For a toe cramp, press upon the nerve in the arch of the foot on the inside edge about one-third the way from heel to toe. Submerge and press the place with the thumbs, sliding them forward to the great toe. Treat cramps in the thigh muscles in the same manner.

A source of danger to himself, the swimmer who likes to show his ability. The man who will dive in the shallowest water he can find, and who will try to swim distances which are beyond his strength not only endangers his own life but the life of anyone who may try to go to his assistance.

Before entering the water, the swimmer should bear in mind the idea that should he be overcome by fatigue or cramps or from other cause, he may greatly hinder or assist the person who comes to his aid by his actions. The struggles of a drowning person are proverbial for the difficulty they create. Clear thinking in emergencies is a decided asset.

A means of studying rays heretofore invisible to astronomers has been found. An aluminum mirror perfected at Cornell university does the trick by capturing the rays and reflecting them to photographic plates. They are shown as deep blue rays which are broken up into color bands of varying hues, running together in much the same manner as the colors of an ordinary rainbow. Each of these bands distinctly indicates a temperature or condition that does not appear in the visible light of the star.

Did You Know? . . .

That a weatherproof dome reflector to light the garage at night is a safety measure worth considering.

That utility sun lamps bring health into the home during cold, inclement weather.

That we should watch the way our children read and when they seem to require a book nearer than 14 inches to their eyes we should give them a better light immediately.

That in every child's room there should be a central fixture of the semi-direct or indirect type.

That children's desks and tables should have as abundant light as that given to the grown-ups.

That plenty of outlets provide an easy means of connecting lights and utilities, do away with much of the hazard of long cords and eliminate the need of climbing upon chairs to connect appliances to high lights.

That there are many simple ways we can improve our lighting at little cost; there is no reason for not having it adequate and correct.

Old Furniture Can Be Refinished With a Little Effort

If your old furniture looks a little shabby, scratched and scarred and you have the time it can be refinished at home. Old furniture, says Mary A. Covert, home management specialist at South Dakota state college, may easily be restored to its original beauty by a renewal of the natural wood finish. First, she advises, remove the old finish with a paint or varnish remover. Then sandpaper the wood until it feels smooth and satiny. Be sure to remove all the dust and then apply a mixture of two parts boiled linseed oil and one part turpentine with a soft cloth. Keep the mixture warm in a pan of hot water.

Wipe off all the excess oil and allow to dry for 48 hours. Repeat this process until the wood will absorb no more oil, being sure to rub well after each oiling. However, if the particular kind of wood being treated absorbs too much oil the treatments may be stopped when the desired shade or color has been reached. Next apply a mixture of one part white shellac and one part denatured alcohol. When this is thoroughly dry rub with fine sandpaper to remove the surface shellac.

The finish is put on by simply rubbing in a small amount of wax. After the wax dries for 10 minutes polish with a flannel cloth. Some woods require more than one coat of wax to bring out the desired finish.

Green Filling—Add finely minced mint or parsley and chives to mayonnaise.

Red Filling—Add minced pimiento and tomato catsup to cream or grated yellow cheese.

Spread buttered slices of bread with these fillings, placing together in four layers, alternating the colors. Trim off the crusts and roll in a damp napkin under a little pressure and set in refrigerator until needed. To serve, slice very thin through the layers and arrange in overlapping slices.

A Favorite White House Dessert

By Mabel Love

DESSERTS play an important part on the White House menu. The prune souffle pictured above is a great favorite with the President, according to Mrs. Henrietta Nesbitt, the White House housekeeper. Sweet foods are high in energy value; so perhaps a fondness for sweets is partly responsible for the abundance of energy the Roosevelt family displays.

The White House prune souffle is practical, economical and easy to prepare. So that you can try it in your own home, here is Mrs. Nesbitt's recipe for it:

Prune Souffle

Three-fourths cup of cooked prunes sweetened to taste, pitted and chopped. Beat four large egg whites or five small ones until very stiff. Gradually fold in prunes. Pour in buttered baking dish and bake in a pan of water in moderate oven for twenty minutes.

Custard Sauce

Beat the yolks of the eggs until foamy. Add juice in which prunes have boiled and return to double boiler. When the sauce starts to thicken, take from the fire and cool. This can be served either hot or cold.

KEEP MEDICINE CABINET UP-TO-DATE

(By Aileen Hart)
Take Advantage of Sales to Replenish Your Beauty and Medicine Cabinets

When the beauty cabinet has been replenished and refurnished and you have on hand all the preparations that are necessary to keep your skin youthful and attractive, it's an excellent idea to make a careful survey of the items that are needed in the regular bathroom medicine cabinet. These, too, have a direct relation to beauty.

Put down on a list not only the necessities that are missing but also the ones which are running low. Then, when the neighborhood drug or department store features a sale which includes some of the things you need, get them that day. Such careful planning is a big help to the budget.

When a store is running a "special" on your particular brand of toothpaste or toothpowder, why not get several tubes then? The same applies to the family's favorite brand of toilet soap. And, if eye lotion which is also used by each member of the family.

Speaking of eye lotion, don't underestimate its importance. With summer here the air is filled with dust and dirt and you should therefore bathe the eyes at least twice a day. Provide an eye-cup for every one in the house and teach each one to use it correctly.

Lemon Sauce

Mix ½ cup sugar and 1 tablespoon cornstarch and a dash of salt. Add 1 cup boiling water and bring to boiling point, stirring constantly. Cook over boiling water 15 minutes. Remove from fire, add a slightly beaten egg yolk, three tablespoons lemon juice, and 2 tablespoons butter. Serve hot.

Wilted Spinach

Wash 1 pound spinach thoroughly. Drain and shred fine. Fry three strips bacon. Then cut in small pieces. Chop one onion very fine, add to 4 tablespoons bacon fat and fry a delicate brown. Add one tablespoon vinegar, ½ teaspoon salt and a few grains of pepper. Pour this sauce over the spinach. Cover and heat several minutes until wilted. Garnish with bacon strips and serve at once.

You Bet Your Life

Do you speed when the sign says "Beware"?

You bet your life!

Do you take chances when you should take care?

You bet your life!

Do you make blunders you never should make?

Do you take chances that you oughtn't to take?

What are you betting, man?

YOU BET YOUR LIFE!

"What makes you think it is easier for a rich man to land in society than it is for an immigrant to enter this country?"

"In the former case the literacy test isn't required."

Keeping Cut Flowers Fresh

By Ann Pryor

NOTHING adds more to the attractiveness of the home than tastefully arranged cut flowers. To make your cut flowers last longer, add sugar to the water in the vases. The proportions are about a level teaspoonful of sugar to a pint of water. Every third day cut off about a quarter of an inch from the ends of the stems, using a very sharp knife or razor blade.

What Ladies Like

Is the modern woman as interested in politics, economic and international affairs as the stir created by the intellectually minded group indicates to the gullible editor? Or is her heart still entwined with "kinder, kirche and Kucke"? The American Society of Newspaper Editors Bulletin asks those questions.

Press associations and editors obligingly provided columns of front page space on the National Women's Party League of Women Voters row at the Pan-American conference at Montevideo, yet when the local leaders of the two organizations were asked for their opinions of the situation, here's what they said:

"I'm sorry but my mother broke her shoulder and I haven't done any reading this month."

"I conduct a study group on international relations but we haven't gotten to that yet."

"I'm a grandmother now and grandmother is such an exciting business, I've just forgotten the rest of the world."

And at a state women's club conference, the "Ottomanship" booth was empty day after day while the crowds pushed into the beauty exhibits next door!

Married Men Live Longer

Married men may live a hard life but they can console themselves with the fact that their chances for a long life are better than their single brothers. Figures from the Census Bureau show that the death rate in married men between the ages of 35 and 45 is but half that of bachelors. Between the ages of 25 and 65 it is but two-thirds that of the single men.

Poison, Luxury, Necessity The Tomato Evolves In Its Century of Edible Existence

Governor Ferguson of Texas, with Tomato Salad

HOW the tomato has evolved! Not so long ago it was regarded as poison, and, judging by its original name, "love apple," apparently a most insidious one. Then it became a luxury. Now the tomato enters into more dishes served on the American table than does any other fruit or vegetable.

No longer a luxury, it has come by way of being an institution. So much so, indeed, that a national festival is being held this year to honor the tomato, on the one hundredth anniversary of the discovery that tomatoes are good to eat. In Texas, where much of the crop is grown, Governor Miriam Ferguson this month proclaimed a state-wide celebration and made public some of her favorite recipes calling for the use of tomatoes.

A great mineral source, providing phosphorus, calcium and iron, tomatoes are also exceptionally high in vitamin content. They contain vitamins A, B and C, with the last named in abundance.

For children, tomato juice is now recommended at any age over three months, but for adults probably the most familiar way of eating the tomato is in salads, with mayonnaise. If you fancy the tomato, perhaps you would like the special salad dedicated to Governor Ferguson.

Ma Ferguson Salad

6 medium tomatoes, peeled
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons double-whipped mayonnaise
4 tablespoons celery, diced
5 tablespoons cucumber, finely diced
18 canned asparagus tips

Cut off thin slice from stem-end of each tomato and remove seeds and part of pulp. Salt inside of tomatoes, invert, and chill 30 minutes. Blend mayonnaise, celery, and cucumber. Pile mixture in tomatoes. Place 3 asparagus tips (chilled and marinated) around each tomato on crisp lettuce. Serve with additional mayonnaise and garnish of green pepper rings.

Thoughtful Willie

Willie—Daddy, I wish you would get me a drum.
Daddy—Oh, I'm afraid you'll disturb me very much with it.

Willie—Oh, no, Daddy; I'll only play it when you're asleep.

Engler—Hi, there! Get off the track, you idiot! What do you mean by standing in front of a locomotive?
Man—Oh, I just had my life insured and I wanted to see whether the company is reliable.

TEETH FOR A LIFETIME ARE BUILT IN YOUTH

More dental defects occur among children than all other physical defects. That fact alone explains why progressive communities insist on dental examinations for school children. Improper care of the teeth during childhood is also considered responsible for the appalling fact that the period of greatest dental efficiency in the average person is only ten years in length. This means that our chewing mechanism which requires twenty years to build remains intact for only half that time.

Dr. Clarence O. Shipson says, "the guilt for this condition can be charged primarily to parents in deficient care and training of children, because the destruction of the teeth starts before the age of discretion," which means in every day language that parents do not insist that their children eat enough of the tooth-building foods, such as milk, fruits, vegetables and chewy foods. It also means that parents do not train their children to brush their teeth thoroughly and frequently.

Value of Parents' Example.
It is still enough for parents to tell their children to brush their teeth and eat the right foods. They must also see that their children act on the directions given them. One very practical way for the parents to do this is to set them a good example by giving their own teeth good care, including frequent dental examinations. The parents must work with the schools and other health agencies in seeing that the children establish and practice the proper health habits.

Of course the school dental examination in itself does nothing to improve the condition of the child's teeth. The value of the examination lies in calling the condition to the attention of the parents so that they will have the child's teeth cured for. Also the re-examination is a means of showing whether the dental conditions are improving or getting worse. Possibly the most important function of these school-sponsored examinations is the object lesson which they present to the parents. They emphasize the value of having children's teeth examined regularly.

This is one of a series of articles on "How to Have Attractive Teeth" released in cooperation with and approved by the public service committee of the Chicago Dental Society.

A black rose, budded from the original in Germany, is now being produced in this country. It has a petal that is a deep red at the stem, becomes a deep purple as it widens out and is entirely black at and near the tip.

Help to Utilize Excess Food by Canning, Pickling

By WALTER W. McLAUGHLIN
Director, Illinois Department of Agriculture

ONE of the most deplorable things about the period we have just been going through is that food has been going to waste while people went hungry. One way to remedy this situation is for individuals to store away this excess food for such time as it is needed—by canning and preserving. Fortunately, some of our Illinois foods do not need any special attention to preserve them. Milk, of course, is supplied fresh every day, so there is no need to preserve it and the dependable apple and potato will both keep in storage. But grapes, peaches and corn must be preserved or canned. Of course apples, too, can be preserved—in the form of jelly, apple butter and so on.

WALTER W. McLAUGHLIN, DIRECTOR, ILLINOIS DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Grape Juice is one of the most attractive ways of conserving grapes.

Although this drink has long been recognized for its pleasing taste, it was only comparatively recently that it was found to be of value in preventing acidosis—a quality which had previously been credited chiefly to the citric fruits. Preserves and conserves are other forms in which grapes are particularly appetizing.

Although fresh foods are usually considered superior to the canned in flavor, they are not always. To cite one example—peach pickle is a delicacy on any table. And if care is taken in the cooking process the canned foods will have approximately the same food value as the fresh.

Save the Vitamins.

In canning any one of these three foods—peaches, grapes or corn—care should be taken to avoid oxidation and over-cooking as this is destructive to the Vitamins A and C, one or both of which is present in good quantities in each of these foods and should not be lost.

Whether you are canning vegetables or fruits, be sure that you select fresh, firm products in excellent condition. Cleanliness is another item of paramount importance. In canning vegetables first scrub them thoroughly in running water if possible, then prepare them as for table use and cook them immediately. When completely heated to the boiling point, put in clean hot jars and seal tightly.

Not all vegetables are attractive when canned; corn is one of the comparatively few which is popular in canned form as well as when fresh. A can of corn is one of the most convenient things a housewife can have on hand, for by adding to it milk, cheese or egg, she can create a complete meal in one dish.
